

Source: the3foragers.blogspot.com

KNOTWEED COOK OFF!

Fishing Creek Watershed Association
May Public Meeting

Enter a dish in the first FCWA Japanese Knotweed Cook Off or come try delicious sweet and savory recipes made with invasive knotweed from Kocher Park. It is similar to rhubarb and can be eaten raw or cooked. Search online for recipe ideas! A group will be meeting at Kocher Park Sunday, May 13th to identify and collect knotweed for the cook off. Call for details.

Source: eattheinvaders.org

Disclaimer: Never eat anything
from the wild without consulting an expert!

Knotweed identification and harvest Sunday
May 13th at Kocher Park

Come eat the invasive!

MONDAY
MAY 14TH
6 PM

Lower level conference rm
Ag Services Building

702 Sawmill Road
Bloomsburg

570-317-9456

www.fcwa.net